

COMMUNICATION ON COURSE – IDAHO

We operate on a “no news is good news” basis. This means family members typically will not hear from us nor receive updates during the course. Course instructors check in with the base camp every day via satellite phone. Important news regarding student safety or health will be relayed to you immediately.

NWOBS staff take photos during most courses, but because of the remote areas from which they operate, these photos may not be uploaded to our website and Facebook until up to one month after the end of course.

Due to the remote nature of our Idaho Courses, any student mail must arrive 3 days prior to course start at the address below. We do not recommend mail for our Idaho courses and cannot guarantee students will receive the mail if not received in the timeframe above. Care packages are not allowed and will not be delivered to students; our base camps do not have the capacity to store and deliver packages.
